Photographic Art of Nature can contribute to the culture of Christian Belief

What we no longer see from our cities and suburbs still exists and is still awe inspiring. The natural world in its splendor can still inspire faith in those who take the time to go and see it. “When you cannot escape the city we depend upon the talents of photographers to capture the beauty of our world and bring it to us,” says Terrence A. Lovett, CEO of the Christian Library on Demand. “Capturing these special moments is difficult, even under the most controlled environments,” says Lovett. You cannot see certain flowers until they are in season and not all buds bloom into photogenic models of that species.

However, the trained eye of a photographer, timing and patience can bring rewards for those who are willing to invest the time. “The art of photography belongs to the patient and diligent,” says Janice Sullivan, Owner and Photographic arts mentor and teacher at Sullivan J Photography, “having a good grasp of your tools and how to use them can help you bring out the beauty that is already there.” Janice is an award winning photographer whose work is sought out by professionals across several fields. She specializes in fine art, travel, macro, and landscape photography.

“We were delighted when we found Janice’s work, her fine art is bright and beautiful,” says Darcey Hutchinson, CFO of the Christian Library on Demand. “We hope that our EnLive Smart TV App users will enjoy and purchase Janice’s work,” says Hutchinson. Sullivan J Photography has partnered with the Christian Library on Demand to offer fine art pieces for sale in the EnLive art store within the EnLive Smart TV App. “EnLive believes in promoting fine art especially those pieces that show the Glory of God,” says Lovett.

The natural world has always inspired faith, from the wise men of the nativity stories who followed a star to find the young Savior, to the astronomers of the middle ages. “The natural world in its complexity and beauty serves to reinforce faith in a God capable of such great creation, intricacy and symmetry all at once,” says Lovett. EnLive Smart TV App is proud to welcome Sullivan J Photography to its in-app art store.

Users can browse art pieces just like they browse for pay-per-view movies. “Art in our opinion is entertaining and has a pure quality to it that we are proud to offer to our users,” says Hutchinson.
